International Democracy Day 2018 recognises democracy is ‘under strain’ and calls for parliamentary solutions for a changing world

‘Democracy is showing greater strain than at any time in decades. That is why this International Day should make us look for ways to invigorate democracy and seek answers for the systemic challenges it faces.’ — United Nations Secretary-General, António Guterres

The Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) network has marked International Day of Democracy 2018 and many of its 180 Branches in Parliaments and Legislatures across the Commonwealth held different events and activities.

In 2007, the United Nations General Assembly reaffirmed the Universal Declaration on Democracy by instituting International Day of Democracy (IDD) on 15 September each year. The UN theme for IDD 2018 was: Democracy under Strain: Solutions for a Changing World and this year’s theme was an opportunity to look for ways to invigorate democracy and seek answers to the systemic challenges it faces. This includes tackling economic and political inequalities, making democracies more inclusive by bringing the young and marginalized into the political system, and making democracies more innovative and responsive to emerging challenges such as migration and climate change. For more information on International Day of Democracy please click here.

Revised and updated CPA Recommended Benchmarks for Democratic Legislatures are published online

Building on the Commonwealth Latimer House Principles on the separation of powers, the CPA Recommended Benchmarks for Democratic Legislatures provide a framework for excellence in Commonwealth parliamentary and legislative practice. Reinforcing the belief that effective Parliaments are one of the principal institutions of any functioning democracy, they provide a framework for how a Parliament should be constituted and how it should function. The CPA Benchmarks are fundamental to the wider values of the Commonwealth Charter, adopted in 2012 by Commonwealth Heads of Government, which expresses the commitment of member states to the development of free and democratic societies.

The original CPA Benchmarks published in 2006 comprised 87 indicators and were drafted by CPA Parliamentarians representing different Commonwealth regions. These Benchmarks have been revised and updated in 2018 and launched on the CPA website. The updated CPA Benchmarks will continue to play an important part in developing the effectiveness of parliamentary institutions across the 180 Parliaments and Legislatures of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

New CPA Small Branches Strategic Plan launches for the development of the network over next three years

The CPA Small Branches Chairperson, Hon. Angelo Farrugia, MP, Speaker of the Parliament of Malta, has launched the digital edition of the CPA Small Branches Strategic Plan 2018-2020 to the wider CPA membership.

The Plan identifies five strategic outcomes for the CPA Small Branches Network and sets out a roadmap to achieving them. In the foreword to the Strategic Plan, the CPA Small Branches Chairperson writes: “I would like to encourage all CPA Small Branches to implement this Strategic Plan on multiple levels: internationally, locally, but also individually. It is vital that the international community keeps hearing the voice of smaller states, so that their challenges are heard and tackled, but it is also vital that this Strategic Plan is implemented on the ground by ourselves; key to the success of the Strategy is ownership by us, coming together as a collective.”

CPA Secretary-General speaks to aspiring International Leaders on the importance of a rules-based international order

The CPA Secretary-General, Mr Akbar Khan, spoke recently as a guest contributor to delegates attending the International Leaders Programme, hosted jointly by the United Kingdom’s Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and Wilton Park, an Executive Agency of the FCO. Taking place at Millbank Tower in central London, the theme of this year’s programme was ‘The UK in 2018: An inward and outward look?’

Speaking from his unique perspective as the Secretary-General of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, Mr Khan said to delegates: “As a 106-year-old voluntary Association of over 180 plus legislatures, national and sub-national, across the Commonwealth, the CPA works towards upholding the values and principles of parliamentary democracy and the Commonwealth. A functioning Parliament is critical to embedding at the national level, respect and support for the rules based international order. Parliaments no longer operate purely in a domestic context but are increasingly grappling with international issues and can play an enormously important role in scrutinising and holding the Executive to account for implementation of its international obligations and in turn reinforce the rules based international order.”

Delegates in attendance included young leaders from Australia, Belarus, Cambodia, Colombia, Cuba, Iraq, Mali, Mongolia, Mozambique, Paraguay, Spain, Syria, Ukraine and Vietnam.

Embracing evaluation for Agenda 2030 is the focus for Parliamentarians at #EvalColombo2018 in Sri Lanka

The Speaker of the Parliament of Sri Lanka, Hon. Karu Jayasuriya, MP addressed the forum and the CPA was represented by many Commonwealth Parliamentarians attending the forum along with Ms Meenakshi Dhar from the CPA Headquarters Secretariat.

Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians in New Zealand unite to celebrate 125 years of women’s suffrage and historic milestones in politics

New Zealand Members of Parliament, both male and female, and from all political parties of the left and right, gathered for a special event on 19 September 2018 to celebrate 125 years of women’s suffrage in New Zealand. The breakfast event was convened by the Co-Chairpersons of the New Zealand group of the Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians (CWP), Louisa Wall, MP and Jo Hayes, MP, and the Deputy Speaker of the New Zealand Parliament, Hon. Anne Tolley, as a poignant start to an important day of celebration and reflection. New Zealand women first achieved the right to vote in 1893.

The CWP New Zealand Co-Chairpersons, Louisa Wall, MP and Jo Hayes, MP said: “We were privileged to hear from the first woman Prime Minister of New Zealand, Rt Hon. Dame Jenny Shipley, and Dame Hon. Ann Hercus, the first Minister for Women and the first women to hold the Police ministerial portfolio. All 48 current women Parliamentarians were presented with a symbolic gift commemorating their service in the New Zealand Parliament, along with their unique number representing their place out of the 149 women who have been elected to Parliament in our history.” Past and present New Zealand women MPs were presented with #Suffrage125 brooches in the shape of a camellia, crafted by Whakatane artist Robyn Watchorn.

“We are heartened that in 2018, 40% of the New Zealand Parliament’s MPs are women; a record for our Parliament, which places us at number 20 in the world for gender equality in Parliaments. Despite how far we have come in 125 years, there is still ground to be broken and this will only happen when women and men from all sides of the political spectrum come together and advocate for change.”

The Parliamentarian – 2018: Issue Three: 3Ds: Democracy, Development and Diversity

The Parliamentarian is the quarterly Journal of Commonwealth Parliaments published by the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) and features articles and news written by Members of Parliament, parliamentary staff and global experts across the Commonwealth about international issues.

3Ds: Democracy, Development and Diversity

The Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) has focused recently on the three Ds – democracy, development and diversity – as a means of promoting the values of the Commonwealth, particularly to young people. Our Parliaments and Parliamentarians have a key role to play in the protection of democracy’s conventions and in promoting democracy, development and diversity.

This issue of The Parliamentarian features a report of the 49th Presiding Officers and Clerks Conference (POCC) for the CPA Pacific and Australia Regions which took place in Wellington, New Zealand in July 2018 as well as several of the papers presented by Speakers, Members and Clerks at this conference on the themes of parliamentary development. Hon. Tony Smith, MP, Speaker of the Australian House of Representatives (Australia Federal), in his first article for the publication, writes about the ‘High and exacting demands’ on the Speaker and his reflections on preparing for the role of Chair of a large Parliament.

The CPA Secretary-General, Mr Akbar Khan in his View article writes about the important role of the CPA in contributing to the rules-based international order. Hon. Syed Naveed Qamar, MP (National Assembly of Pakistan) writes about new legislation introduced in Pakistan to protect Transgender rights inspired by the work of the Parliamentarians for Global Action (PGA). A report of the parliamentary staff developing their skills to meet the impact of the Fourth Industrial Revolution at the 3rd SoCATT Africa Region Development Seminar in Namibia is included as well as an article from international children’s charity, Lumos, highlighting the role that Legislators can play in tackling global orphanage trafficking.

A number of significant anniversaries in the history of women’s suffrage and the passing of significant equality legislation have been marked across the Commonwealth this year. As the Canadian Federal Parliament marks the centenary of women voting in the federal elections in Canada, Hon. Yasmin Ratansi, MP, Chairperson of the CPA Canada Federal Branch provides a historical perspective of women’s right to vote in Canada and examines the level of women’s representation in Canadian Parliaments and Provincial Assemblies today. The Parliamentary Report and Third Reading sections in this issue includes parliamentary and legislative news from Canada Federal, British Columbia, Québec, India, New Zealand, Sri Lanka, Australia Federal and the United Kingdom.
