STANDING ORDERS OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY

(Made pursuant to Section 45 of the Bermuda Constitution Order)

INTRODUCTION

What are Standing Orders?

Standing Orders are the Formal rules that govern the proceedings of the House and set out the arrangement of the business to be conducted as well as the rules for debate.

Standing Orders (Rules) may be suspended, if the House agrees, in order to allow a certain item of business to be conducted.

As a Territory of the British Commonwealth, Bermuda's Standing Orders are based on the following: the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association's (CPA) Template, the House of Commons Procedure and Practice and Erskine May's Parliamentary Practice.

In addition, the Standing Orders are governed by Section 45 of the Bermuda Constitution.

How to use Standing Orders

The Arrangement of Orders is the Index – this is helpful in looking up a specific rule or Standing Order.

Various Explanations

Oath of Allegiance [Standing Order 1] - there are two separate forms (1) Oath of Allegiance and (2) Affirmation of Allegiance.

Naming a Member [Standing Order 10(5) (a)] - a Member whose conduct is grossly disorderly may be “named” and then ordered to withdraw immediately from the House.

Order Paper [Standing Order 14 (2)] – a paper which outlines the business to be placed before the House on any given Meeting Day and the order in which it is to be taken.

Tabling of Papers/Reports [Standing Order 16 (3) and (4)] - Documents such as Reports, Statements from government departments and authorities, Parliamentary Committee Reports, and a wide variety of other papers are presented to the House by being laid upon the Table.

Questions [Standing Order 17] - Ministers may be asked questions for oral or written answers relating to public affairs for which they are responsible. Ministers may also be asked on-the-spot questions based on Statements presented to the House. Supplementary questions to elicit further information may also be asked.

Points of Order - the purpose of a point of order is to draw the Speaker or the Chair's attention to a breach of the Standing Orders of the House [Standing Order 19 (11)]; to offer clarification (with the speaking Member's permission); or to seek guidance on a matter of procedure.

A motion [Standing Order 21] is a formal proposal that the House take action of some kind. Motions involve words like "Whereas" and "Resolutions". The moving of and voting on Motions is the basic building block of parliamentary procedure.

A motion must first be moved by a Member, then (if necessary) seconded by another Member; the Chair then proposes the question which is debated by Members (The Member moving a motion speaks twice—once upon the introduction of the Motion, and again after Members have debated its merits. All others speak only once.) who may propose amendments (which are then also debated). When this process is finished, the Chair puts the question (as amended if necessary) and the House makes its decision.

Voting/Divisions [Standing Order 26 (4) (c)] - if the result of a vote is in doubt, or if Members want the record to show how each Member voted, a division may be requested.

A Bill [Standing Orders 27 to 33 and 42, 48 and 49 all relate to Bills] - is a proposal for a new law, or for a change to an existing law. Bills have their own terminology like – Amendment; Clause; First Reading; Second Reading; Third Reading; Preamble; Schedule; Short title and Long title.

The body of a Bill consists of clauses which are divided into: subsections (1), (2), (3); which may be further divided into paragraphs (a), (b), and (c); and possibly even subparagraphs (i), (ii) (iii). Once a Bill is enacted the clauses become sections of the Law or Act.

Stages of a Bill: Introduction and First Reading [Standing Order 28] is when the Bill is read by its title only. Second Reading [Standing Order 29] is when the general debate on the principles of the Bill takes place within Committee (usually of the whole House). A Chairperson, other than the Speaker, chairs this stage of the legislative process. During Committee stage the Bill is considered line by line and there can be a vote on each clause; amendments are also made at this stage.

Report - the Chairperson reports the results of the Committee stage to the whole House of Assembly [i.e. The Speaker]. Third Reading [Standing Order 30] – again, the Bill is read by its title only and if there are no amendments or objections, the Bill is passed.

These Standing Orders represent a major revision of the rules of the House of Assembly and were completed by two former members of the Houser of Assembly. The Former Deputy Speaker and Former Premier of Bermuda the Hon. Dame Jennifer M. Smith JP MP of the Progressive Labour Party, who was first elected to the House of Assembly in 1989 and who had previously served in the Senate from December 1980 to the general Election of 1989, and the Hon. John Barritt JP MP of the One Bermuda Alliance, former Opposition House Leader, Whip and Shadow spokesman for Legislative Reform and Public Administration, who was first elected to the House in 1993.

Appendix A

GUIDELINES FOR QUESTION PERIOD

Under the new Standing Orders, Members may ask questions without notice in the following two cases:

1. Where the questions arise out of Ministerial Statements; and
2. Where the questions are on matters of “urgent public importance”.

Members who wish to ask questions on these grounds should notify the Speaker/Clerk as early as possible that he or she intends to seek to ask such questions.

Ministers should not be expected to provide information of a factual nature without notice and if the Speaker so determines that this is the case, then any such Question(s) will be subject to the Notice provisions.

Any Minister who, with the concurrence of the Speaker on the grounds that he or she needs to consult and obtain the necessary factual information, defers answering a Question will be expected to provide such information during the next Question Period.

1. (a) The question must arise directly from the contents of the Ministerial Statement and be directed to the Minister concerned.
1. (b) Statements must be given to the Speaker by 5 p.m. the day before the meeting and distributed to Members at the time the Minister rises to speak.
1. (c) Questions must be short and to the point and framed in the following terms:
e.g. “With respect to the matter raised by the Minister in his/her Statement [the member may quote the relevant portions], would the Honourable Minister please (inform/tell/clarify) for this Honourable House etc.” or other acceptable variations thereon.
1. (d) Any member who asks a question is permitted two follow-up supplementary questions.

{The question of other members being permitted follow up Questions on the same subject will be in the discretion of the Speaker}.

2. (a) What qualifies as a matter of “urgent public importance” is at the discretion of the Speaker.
2. (b) Any such Question allowed under this Guideline must be framed (or aimed) at determining Government’s position or policy in respect of the matter concerned; and
2. (c) Be directed at the Minister [or Junior Minister] under whose portfolio responsibility for the matter(s) lies.
2. (d) Any member who asks a question is permitted two follow-up supplementary questions.

{The question of other members being permitted follow up Questions on the same subject will be at the discretion of the Speaker}.

Over time, based on the Questions that arise and the Decisions that are made, a body of precedent will emerge that will help to shape and refine these and future guidelines.
